

EMPLOYMENT LAW FIRM OF THE YEAR

Mulberry's Employment Law Solicitors

---

Mulberry's Employment Law Solicitors are a Brighton-based law firm helping clients across East Sussex and Greater London. The legal experts work with SMEs, local charities, trusts and individuals and specialise in providing first class advice, guidance and support for employers and workers in all areas of employment law. With more than 20 years' experience between them, the team offers a fast turnaround for clients without ever compromising on the quality of their services and the kind of personal concern that shows clients they really care about them. Services available at Mulberry's include assistance with settlement agreements, unfair dismissal and discrimination cases, employment contracts and post termination restrictions.

The judges were impressed by the portfolio of work the team, headed by principal solicitor Zoe Lagadec, have undertaken over the years. Projects for the legal specialists have included working for The Guardian newspaper, which led to a Parliamentary intervention, advising the BBC in relation to a report on working practices and numerous cases involving human rights breaches, class actions and whistleblowing. The future is looking bright for Mulberry's, who are planning to launch a new initiative soon that provides a weekly low cost Q&A session for anyone to access employment law advice on their website.
